

Mathematics / Multiple and Factor

Numbers can be multiplied to get a product.

These numbers are called factors of the product.

Multiples of a number are obtained by multiplying the number by natural numbers.

Highest Common Factor or HCF of two numbers is the largest number which is a common factor for these numbers.

Least Common Multiple or LCM of two numbers is the smallest number which is a common multiple for these numbers.